

COMITÉS

- UNSC (United Nations Security Council): The UN Security Council is responsible for maintaining international peace and security. Composed of 15 members, including five permanent members (the United States, Russia, China, the United Kingdom, and France) and ten rotating members, the UNSC can take action to prevent and resolve conflicts, including the imposition of sanctions and the deployment of peacekeeping missions. In the context of Arctic exploration, the UNSC plays a crucial role in managing the geopolitical tensions that arise from territorial claims, as the increase in military activity and the exploration of natural resources in the region can affect global stability. The UNSC can also address issues related to environmental security, as climate change directly impacts security and peace.

QUESTIONS THAT SHOULD BE ANSWERED BY THE COMMITTEE:

1. How should the Security Council respond to the increasing military presence in the Arctic without triggering an escalation of tensions among major powers?
2. What types of sanctions could be considered against countries that take aggressive or illegal actions in the Arctic?
3. In what way can the Security Council ensure that the exploitation of resources in the Arctic does not lead to armed conflicts between states?
4. What should the UNSC's stance be toward countries that engage in exploratory activities without respecting international treaties?
5. How should the Security Council address situations where Arctic exploration impacts local communities and threatens global environmental security?
